Comments:

- The Proposed Building Area
- This area already floods. The run off will cross the road, fill the River Cadoxton + over flow onto the railway line, possibly flooding ~~that~~ ^{just} before the Cogan Tunnel
 - Houses flood at Dinas Powys + this means raw sewage running into the sea. All this water has to go through the pipe under the main road or sunny ~~where~~ ^{where} it can flood to houses
 - Increased congestion slowly traveling along the road will have an effect on residents health which will suffer
 - The Medical Centre + Schools are stretched already. The hospitals + emergency services struggle to manage at times
 - Access to Eastbrook railway station could be dangerous with people crossing the road before the crossing. The road itself is at capacity
 - The ~~loss of~~ Green Space between Dinas Powys and Handough is important to the village, helping keeping its identity. It is also an important wildlife corridor
 - The new extension to Handough Hospital has already increased the amount of water flowing down the hill to the proposed building area
